Our emails aren't stored by years. When we delete an email it goes into the deleted file. At that point it's up to each individual to periodically delete those emails from the deleted file at which point they are archived for seven years. The individuals who would most likely receive an email regarding facial recognition software would also be receiving hundreds of other emails a week. They would be dumping their deleted file regularly so those person's emails would be mostly archived.

For which year(s) are the "current" emails, are opposed to the archive?
Thanks!

Best,
Emiliano

We searched our current available emails and there was nothing. To search the archive it will most likely require billable hours as we can't do this ourselves. I can find out time and cost factors if you'd like.

Thank you! If you can run the search, that would be great!

Hi Emiliano,

I spoke with our primary IT officer who would receive such offers. He does not recall ever receiving any and certainly did not respond to any. If you are interested in mere solicitations I can request a search of our email data base. There's always a chance they were received and deleted from our active in boxes.

Thank you!

Did you search if you or any member of the PD received any solicitations?

Best,

Emiliano
