Emiliano,

The Plymouth Police Department has not and is not testing software.

Dear Sgt. Glowka,

Thank you for sending this email.

Last May, the Boston Globe reported
<<https://www.bostonglobe.com/metro/2019/05/10/somerville-moves-ban-facial-recognition-surveillance/ebhl0qcX6k14O1H78yrpil/story.html>> that while Plymouth Police Department would not “use the Suspect Technologies program as proposed,” the PD would still “test out the company’s software — on a free-trial basis — in criminal investigations to compare faces in video evidence against those in the department’s booking photos.”

I am writing back to confirm that there are no records that relate to our request sent on July 29. Please bear in mind that if the Plymouth PD indeed tested out Suspect Technologies software, the records created would indeed pertain to our request.

Thank you very much.

Best regards,

Emiliano
